

City of Ketchum

News Release
June 17, 2016

Public Works Director Robyn Mattison Receives Nat'l Recognition

One of 14 Young Professionals Honored

KETCHUM, Idaho - Robyn Mattison, public works director/city engineer, was one of 14 young professionals recently highlighted in an industry publication, Water and Wastewater Digest.

"The word 'pioneer' is an apt description for Robyn Mattison, who (was chosen as) the first female public works director in the state of Idaho in 2013," the article said.

Mattison has been instrumental in securing almost $65,000 in grants for the city for a transportation study and for improved access to the Big Wood River.

Under her leadership, the city and the Sun Valley Water & Sewer District received permission to use reclaimed wastewater to irrigate a golf course in Sun Valley. This was the second permit of its type to be issued in the state.

###

About the City of Ketchum

The city of Ketchum is located in the Wood River Valley in south central Idaho. Founded in 1880 during the mining boom, Ketchum is now regarded as one of the most popular destinations for winter and summer visitors due to its world-class skiing, mountain biking, fishing, hiking, restaurants, art galleries and shopping. The city of Ketchum hosts the famous annual Wagon Days Parade, held on Labor Day weekend, and numerous other year-round attractions. Ketchum is home to more than 10,000 full- and part-time residents. For more information about the city of Ketchum, visit www.ketchumidaho.org.

Contact:

Lisa Enourato
(208) 720-9766, lenourato@ketchumidaho.org

Jo Murray
(208) 726-5869, jo@jomurray.com