Ketchum Hires Interim Fire Chief

Tom Bowman Joins Ketchum Fire

KETCHUM, IDAHO – The city of Ketchum has hired Tom Bowman, a current volunteer for the Ketchum Fire Department, to serve as Interim Fire Chief. He began his new position on Mar. 12, 2019.

A long time Blaine County resident, Bowman has spent much of his time in public service. He was a Blaine County Commissioner, Blaine County Planning and Zoning Commissioner and Ketchum Rural Fire District Commissioner. Bowman has also served as a volunteer firefighter since 1984.

“I’m very excited that Tom has joined our team,” said Mayor Neil Bradshaw. “His experience and relationship with our volunteer and full-time firefighters will be good for the city,” he added.

About the City of Ketchum

The city of Ketchum is located in the Wood River Valley in south central Idaho. Founded in 1880 during the mining boom, Ketchum is now regarded as one of the most popular destinations for winter and summer visitors due to its world-class skiing, mountain biking, fishing, hiking, restaurants, art galleries and shopping. In 2018, Ketchum was awarded designation by the International Dark-Sky Association as a Dark Sky Community and is included in the Nation’s first International Dark Sky Reserve, one of only 13 in the world. The city of Ketchum hosts the famous annual Wagon Days Parade, held on Labor Day weekend, and numerous other year-round attractions. Ketchum is home to more than 10,000 full- and part-time residents.
